- 100% Re-do
  - Assessments (with exception of the Final semester exam)
  - Key Assignments: Evidence that demonstrates mastery of a standard
- Teachers may:
  - require completion of supporting assignments prior to re-do opportunities for students to show they can meet the standard.
  - require students to complete re-do of work outside of class time.
  - limit the number of re-do opportunities for each assignment.
  - assign zero grades when students choose not to do key assignments and/or assessments to standard.
- All opportunities for re-do work will come with a deadline as assigned by the teacher.

OHHS PLAGIARISM POLICY:

Any student, who knowingly turns in any work that has been done by someone other than himself or herself, and fraudulently represents it as his/her own, shall be considered to have cheated. Cheating also includes: aiding someone else in cheating, the use or preparation of written, pictorial, electronic or other materials not authorized by the instructor during a test or assignment, the use of testing materials obtained previous to the test date, or plagiarism of any kind. Students found cheating will also be subject to an office referral, which could result in a suspension. As an effort based school, students who have plagiarized/cheated must still demonstrate their learning. Thus, students will be given the opportunity to complete the work. This will fall under the "Late Work Policy" of the teacher where total possible points may be reduced.

The use of online or electronic translators to complete assignments is considered cheating. Any evidence of the use of an online translator calls into question the integrity of the entire assignment and renders its origin as suspect. Any assignment showing any evidence of use of an electronic translator, without the student having acquired prior permission to use a translator will receive a grade of zero and, as stated above, the student will be subject to an office referral. The student must still demonstrate their learning. Students will be given the opportunity to complete the work. This will fall under the “Late Work Policy” of the teacher where total possible points may be reduced.
