Course Outline/Instructional Units

This course is built on student interest and levels of proficiency. Instructional units that may be covered are:

Community Building

Identity

Global Challenges

Cultural Studies

Film & Literature

Community Outreach

Major Assessments

Tests are unit exams that follow the curriculum of each level. There are summative assessments given at the end of each unit and formative tests given when appropriate. The students may be required to demonstrate their ability to read, speak, write, and/or listen in Spanish.

Minor Assessments

Quizzes/projects are given with and without notice. The students may be required to demonstrate their ability to read, speak, write, or listen in Spanish. They may also be required to identify vocabulary or explain cultural/historical information. Quizzes will vary in frequency and form based on the learning standards of each class.

Daily Work

Students will be required to act engaged in the material on a daily basis and should come to class ready to be active participants. Daily work or homework may take the form of translation, dictation, answering questions, drawing illustrations, making or studying flashcards, storytelling or story writing. Students must show proficiency in their daily work before retaking assessments or assignments.

Extra Help

Tutoring opportunities are available before and after school. Talk to your teacher for further details.

RE-DO POLICY:

OHHS is an effort based school where we believe all students can learn. We also know that students learn at different rates. Thus, we are implementing a re-do policy that recognizes the needs of individual learners.

- 100% Re-do
 - Assessments (with exception of the Final semester exam)
 - Key Assignments: Evidence that demonstrates mastery of a standard
- Teachers may:
 - require completion of supporting assignments prior to re-do opportunities for students to show they can meet the standard.
 - require students to complete re-do of work outside of class time.
 - limit the number of re-do opportunities for each assignment.
 - assign zero grades when students choose not to do key assignments and/or assessments to standard.
- All opportunities for re-do work will come with a deadline as assigned by the teacher.

OHHS PLAGIARISM POLICY:

Any student, who knowingly turns in any work that has been done by someone other than himself or herself, and fraudulently represents it as his/her own, shall be considered to have cheated. Cheating also includes: aiding someone else in cheating, the use or preparation of written, pictorial, electronic or other materials not authorized by the instructor during a test or assignment, the use of testing materials obtained previous to the test date, or plagiarism of any kind. Students found cheating will also be subject to an office referral, which could result in a suspension. As an effort based school, students who have plagiarized/cheated must still demonstrate their learning. Thus, students will be given the opportunity to complete the work. This will fall under the “Late Work Policy” of the teacher where total possible points may be reduced.

The use of online or electronic translators to complete assignments is considered cheating. Any evidence of the use of an online translator calls into question the integrity of the entire assignment and renders its origin as suspect. Any assignment showing any evidence of use of an electronic translator, without the student having acquired prior permission to use a translator will receive a grade of zero and, as stated above, the student will be subject to an office referral. The student must still demonstrate their learning. Students will be given the opportunity to complete the work. This will fall under the “Late Work Policy” of the teacher where total possible points may be reduced.
